Product Description

Introducing our 1" Breakaway Disposable Hose Connector
The best solution for safeguarding your pumping system and preventing potential disasters caused by unexpected vehicle movements.

Designed with precision engineering, our breakaway couplings serve as a vital safety measure, instantly disconnecting the hose from the pumping system in scenarios where a vehicle drives off with the nozzle still attached to the fill point.

Imagine the peace of mind knowing that our breakaway couplings halt the possibility of your entire pump system being ripped out, averting costly damages and hazardous fuel spillages. Our non-reusable breakaway couplings are specifically single-use, ensuring optimal safety and performance.

Equipped with an instant closing, dual poppet check valve mechanism, our breakaway couplings guarantee swift action in separating at less than 300lbs / 1334.4N of force, minimizing any potential risks swiftly and efficiently.

Compatible for diesel applications, our standard models are available in both 1" and 3/4" versions, catering to diverse industrial needs. Despite their robust functionality, our breakaway couplings remain lightweight, economical, and effortlessly disposable after the initial break, providing a cost-effective solution to safeguard your system against unforeseen accidents.

Incorporate our breakaway couplings into your pumping infrastructure today and experience unparalleled peace of mind, knowing that your operations are fortified against potential mishaps. Trust in our expertise to deliver the utmost reliability and safety for your industrial applications.
